

Conference Venue:

KHC Seminar Room, Building D1
(Hartmannstraße 14, 91052 Erlangen)

Will history repeat the great conflicts of the twentieth century? Can humankind overcome the circularity of the anarchical international system? The aim of this workshop is to advance scholarly understanding of intention assessment—the central component of how states cope with uncertainty and the future in the context of Asia-Pacific security. This workshop will also foster a constructive exchange between the Social Sciences and the Humanities with respect to research strategies regarding the ultimate question about how to cope with the future in the sphere of international politics.
